

The American Association of Immunologists

ABOUT

AWARDS

CAREERS

EDUCATION

MEETINGS

MEMBERSHIP

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

AAI Public Service Award

POLICY ISSUES

LEGISLATIVE ACTION CENTER

ANNUAL MEETING SESSIONS

PUBLIC POLICY FELLOWS PROGRAM

AWARDS

- PUBLIC SERVICE
- STAFF RECOGNITION

LETTERS AND COMMENTS

PUBLIC AFFAIRS IN THE NEWSLETTER

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

STAFF

PUBLIC AFFAIRS HOME

CPA HOME

The AAI Public Service Award (PSA) program began in 1994.

The PSA is bestowed annually on "individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the advocacy and support of basic biomedical and immunologic research" and who have "distinguished themselves in such diverse fields as public affairs and policymaking, journalism and scientific writing, scientific research, research administration, minority recruitment and education in the sciences, and disease research advocacy."

2011 Recipients:

Representatives Chris Van Hollen (D-MD) and Brian Bilbray (R-CA) for their "outstanding leadership in advancing biomedical research through support for the National Institutes of Health."

Below (left image): Rep. Chris Van Hollen converses with AAI leaders. Below (right image): Rep. Brian Bilbray (third from left) accepts AAI award from (L-R) Mitchell Kronenberg, Jeffrey Frelinger, Linda Sherman.

Below (L-R): Elizabeth Kovacs, Arlene Sharpe, Linda Sherman, Gail Bishop, Marc Jenkins, Rep. Chris Van Hollen, Mitchell Kronenberg, Michele Hogan, Jeremy Boss, Leslie Berg, Wayne Yokoyama, Lauren Gross.

